

THE INDIANA SUPREME COURT PRESENTS

Law School for Journalists

WEDNESDAY JULY 20, 2011 8:30 A.M. - 4:15 P.M.

IU SCHOOL OF LAW- INDIANAPOLIS

The legal system can present challenges to even the most experienced journalists. To provide guidance, the Indiana Supreme Court is hosting a law school for journalists to educate members of the press on the work of the courts.

Keynote speaker, former Los Angeles Superior Court Media Liaison Jerrienne Hayslett, will talk about her role as PIO for the O.J. Simpson trial. Hayslett has also coordinated logistics for other high-profile cases, including the Menendez brothers, Heidi Fleiss and Rodney King.

Chief Justice Randall T. Shepard will welcome reporters for the opening session and judges, law professors, attorneys and journalists will serve as panelists throughout the day. New and experienced reporters and editors in radio, television, print and Internet are welcome.

REGISTER ONLINE AT COURTS.IN.GOV/MEDIA

SESSION TOPICS:

Problem-Solving Courts
Just the Basics
The Cost of Courts
How to Get Information

The Least Understood Areas of Law
The Juvenile Court System
Sentencing Decisions
Tour the Supreme Court

SPONSORS

